WILL GRANT SALOON LICENSES TONIGHT

FOOD DEMONSTRATION HELD AT HIGH SCHOOL

A chess was started and plans made for further work in food conservation at a meeting held at the high school on yesterday afternoon. Fifty girls have signed up for work, and it is hoped to increase the number until there are members enough for three classes. Three splendid teachers are available for the work. They are Miss Nellie Cronin, who is an experienced teacher in domestic science, Miss Joanna Hayes, who is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin and Miss M. E. Bostwick, a graduate of Stout Institute who comes with the latest ideas from that excellent school. Janesville girls are doing well in securing the advantages of having such superior instruction in these summer classes, and mothers should endeavor to have their daughters profit by these free lessons, which will mean so much to them.

The demonstration given on yesterday was by Miss Nellie Cronin and embraced Liberty breads. In these she used the substitutes—barley, potato flour, oat meal and rice flour. It was a simple demonstration made so plain and intelligible that the girls could see the reason for each step. And it was fascinating for each girl to have one of the muffins for her own, to see and taste. She also worked out and demonstrated the use of the board, which showed that if each girl served these muffins three times a week, for twenty weeks, or until harvest, that 2400 cups of wheat flour would be saved to the nation during that time. She said that when we talked of saving thirty-two million bushels of wheat we had no idea. It was only when we figured it out that 50 round cakes that we could make, and make it seem worth while. The next meeting will be held on next Tuesday afternoon at the high school at 2:30 and it is hoped that a large number of girls will be in attendance, so that the full classes can be organized and regular work begin at once. Canning of all kinds will also be taught.

About forty members of the Short Horn Breeders association enjoyed a banquet at the Y. M. C. A. last evening. It was the second banquet to be given by the association and some excellent addresses were given.

W. H. Hopkins, secretary of the Iowa Stock Breeders association, gave a very interesting address and showed some interesting slides in connection with the necessity of live stock raising and his talk was very instructive as well as interesting.

"CYCLONE ORPHAN" KILLED IN ACTION

SAMMY SCHMIDT, ORFORDVILLE BOY, WHOSE PARENTS LOST LIVES IN CYCLONE, WAS KILLED MAY 28.

WAS WITH CO. "M"

Another Orfordville Boy Severely Wounded in Recent Big Battle. More Names of Rock County Casualties Coming.

Widespread rumors current for the past three days that Sammy Schmidt, an Orfordville boy, had been killed in France were verified yesterday with the receipt of a telegram from the war department by the Meythaler family of Orfordville, with whom the boy made his home previous to his enlistment with Company M. Authoritative information of the death of the lad was received several days before the official notification from Washington. A letter to Private Stanley R. Ashby, his son, written June 1st told of the death of Schmidt and of the wounding of another Orfordville boy, Harry Holden. As yet no official confirmation of the injury to him has been received by his relatives. He also mentioned the fact that other Rock County boys were killed and wounded.

The death telegram received by the Meythaler family stated that Sammy Schmidt was killed in action May 28, the letter from Ashby being written three days later. Young Schmidt enlisted with the local company of the National Guard at the time of its formation over a year ago and when the company was broken up upon its transfer to France he was transferred with several other boys to Company C of the 28th U. S. Infantry, of which company he was a member at the time of his death. He was twenty-two years old and was good and fearless soldier. He was a "cyclone" orphan, both of his parents having been killed on the disastrous day for Rock County, November 11, 1911, when the big cyclone swept through the country. He is survived by one brother, Harry, who is a member of the same company in the 28th U. S. Infantry, who is in Orfordville and Hanover, who sincerely regret to hear of this tragic incident. His name can not be described in gold letters in the honor roll of the community, the inhabitants of which may well feel proud that they have sent forth a son who has made the great sacrifice so that others might live.

The letter written by the dead boy's closest friend, Stanley R. Ashby, to his father, Frank Ashby, in which he tells of the death of Schmidt and the wounding of his brother, Harry, Holden, follows:

Dear Father: "I think it is about time that I am getting busy to write to you. I am safe and sound as a dollar, but poor Sam got killed in the big fight which we have recently taken part. Harry was quite badly wounded, but from all reports he will recover. There are a few others from Rock County recently killed and I am sure their names in the paper back there. Ken and Louie are sitting here by me writing letters too. It seems as though I can't think of enough to write that I can think of enough, but can't write it. We have been having great weather here. It is warm and we have had no rain for quite a while. I hope it stays this way for a while anyway.

How is everything coming back there? We surely gave the Hun a proper trimming. They found a lot of luck when an American starts after them. Well, I guess this is all for this time. I will write again soon. I am an I know you will worry about us.

JANESVILLE SOLDIER DESCRIBES CONFLICT

George Lynts, Member of Company M, Tells of Fight in Which Janesville Boys Took Active Part.

George Lynts of Milton, a former member of Co. M of this city, has written a very interesting letter from France. Mr. Lynts in his letter tells of the boys of Co. M going over the top and assisting in the taking of a town and a quarter mile long.

Mr. Lynts is 20 years of age and resided in Milton before joining the army. He is a cousin of Mrs. Clara Edwards of this city. His letter follows:

"You know about the German drives, and maybe more than I. You have heard of the Americans taking a town and a quarter mile long, and also a town. Probably you don't know this, but all of the boys of Co. M were in that fight, and I was one of the boys who had a lot of tales to tell when they return. May I ask one favor of you, please? Do not think of sending me clothing, money or other things that require transportation. Uncle Sam does not allow us to receive any packages at all. He knows what he is doing. You see he wants us to have food and clothing and he wants to strengthen his army with men, guns and ammunition. We need aeroplanes, and lots of them, and mail trucks, and other things that I don't know as I told you that I am at the first corporal school and will remain here as an instructor for several months. No one else from our regiment stays. If I can locate the boys from Co. M will try and run over and see them when I take my leave at month's end vacation. We have a new captain and about a full quota of new privates. They come from all over the states, Oregon, Michigan, Texas, and the New England states. They are a fine bunch of fellows. The only way I can show my affection is to fight and fight until the war is won."

FARM LABOR AGENCY NO. 150

There is in this country a large number of men who are willing and able to devote a part of their time to farm work, who have not been reached by agencies or farmers. They would work and obtain experience of farming if they were advised of the opportunity that the Farm Labor Agency at the newspaper office offers them.

On the other hand, if there is a shortage of help—as there is in Rock County—the farmer may secure necessary blanks and forms at the Department of Labor, be sent the desirable man.

ROCK COUNTY BOYS COMPLETE ENLISTMENTS

Three Rock County young men of draft age enlisted in the navy in Milwaukee yesterday according to cards received by the local board this morning from the naval recruiting station there. Those who enlisted are Harry A. Bunker of this city, Myron O. Warner of Milton Junction, and Dudley W. E. Smith of Evansville.

RECRUIT Y. M. C. A. OVERSEAS FORCES

Need 4,000 Men and Women Workers By September 1. Campaign Now On.

Four thousand men and women workers are to be added to the Y. M. C. A. forces overseas by September 1. One half of this number must come from the middle western states, according to word received here by the Y. M. C. A. general secretary of the local Y. M. C. A. Wisconsin is asked to supply thirty men each month for the next three months.

State, county, and local recruiting campaigns are being carried on. A slogan is being made for physical fitness. Men of draft age, no matter what their classification may be, are not eligible for Y. M. C. A. work.

More than two hundred representatives of business and professional men of the country heard the appeal of Dr. John R. Mott, general secretary of the National War Work council of the Y. M. C. A. in New York, on June 4, for recruits to the service of the Red Triangle with the allied armies. Dr. Mott, who recently returned from his fifth tour of the war zone, brought the appeal of the official military authorities of all the countries fighting Germany on the western front for immediate and adequate reinforcements to that unless the Y. M. C. A. is to fail in the work which has been entrusted to the association, the forces of the Y. M. C. A. in France, England, and Italy must be increased by at least four thousand workers before September 1. The budget for immediate needs calls for recruiting of 2,210 workers before July 1, leaving 1,000 a month to be obtained during July and August.

The reasons for this great increase of the Red Triangle forces are many. Men are needed to relieve from impossible strain the 2,000 already overseas. Gaps caused by death and physical breakdown must be filled, and successors must be provided for the men who have given all the time they can for their families and business in the United States. The efficiency of the force must be increased. The return to duty of the necessary reinforcements must be obtained. The force must also keep pace with the ever expanding army and navy overseas, and a reserve force must be provided in case the critical situation now faced will not recur.

MRS. CLARA B. EDWARDS AGED 90, PASSES AWAY

One of our oldest citizens, Mrs. Clara B. Edwards, died last Wednesday afternoon at her home, 172 Lincoln street, in this city. Her illness had been of only a few days' duration. Her maiden name was Paul Bingham, and her birth year 1826. She was married in 1861 and removed to Wisconsin in 1865, and first near Koshong in Janesville in 1871. The same year she united in confession with the First Congregational church of this city and remained in its membership until her death. For nearly half a century her life was lived in this city. Her great weight of years, together with impaired eyesight, detained her at home for a number of years past, but she maintained a cheerful and calm spirit and was a magnet to draw her friends to her side. No complaint came from her lips. Her words were gentle and sweet influence. She had a serene faith in her Heavenly Father, and trusted all her ways to the guidance of unbroken usefulness. She gave good cheer to all who visited her, and most to the last minute of her life. Mrs. Edwards was the mother of six children, two of whom survive, Mrs. Owen of Idaho and Miss Edwards of this city. Her funeral took place at her home this afternoon. Rev. J. A. Melrose conducted the services.

Chicago, June 23.—Packers are commencing to make sharp discrimination against grassy hogs, the supply of which is noticeably increasing. This is a seasonal feature of the trade, and has been anticipated for some time. The crop of good fat corn-fed hogs was bunched in the narrow price range of 16.75 to 17 yesterday, while many common grass-fed hogs sold down to 15 and mixed lots around 16.50.

As the season advances the supply of grassy hogs is likely to increase. Demand for settling was generally strong, with receipts only 21,000, against 47,000 the previous Thursday. Only 33,000 cattle arrived the first four days of this week, against 75,000 the corresponding time last week. The result of this has been to recover all the loss of last week for medium and good cattle, and 11@1.50 on the common grassy kinds.

Good Cattle Steady. A fresh supply of 10,000 cattle was about enough to fit current demand, and prices were practically steady for desirable steers. The best available sold at 13, with the bulk of the supply at 15.50@17.45.

Irvin Cobb, Writer Back from War, Says U. S. Will Dictate Peace Terms

Philadelphia, June 28.—Irvin Cobb, writer, returned from the front and told one of the best stories of the war.

"It is a story which should inspire the American people in general and joy in the hearts of the mothers and sweethearts of the boys in France," he said. "It is a story which will never be told by the line. Suppose they do it? What will it matter? What will it matter? What will it mean other than a battle with America, continued with the allies forces of America, France and England?"

World Will Listen to Wilson. "Some people think the drive will be with renewed peace proposals by enemy; peace proposals of more serious nature than ever were offered before. That may be so; no one can tell."

But one thing is certain, and that is peace proposals are made the civilized world will listen to the voice of Woodrow Wilson. His words will be accepted by France, England and Belgium, and back of the line, where the enemy is battling against civilization, his words will be greeted with respect."

In England and France," continued Mr. Cobb, "men asked me this question: 'Whom have we here to whom all the people will listen? We have no such man here. Now, we do not know what you Americans think about it, but you have a man in Washington to whom we will listen, and that man is your president, Mr. Wilson.'

All Defers to Wilson. "Plainly Mr. Cobb brought back evidence—evidence were needed—that the allies and even the Hun army recognized the part which the president, as the leader of the allied nations, is playing and will play in the war."

Now for the boys over there. Mr. Cobb figures that America needs no peace proposals from it front door because we have sent nearly a million of our lads across the sea. "Finally, he says, we can have a little heartache when we miss them coming late to breakfast in the morning, but he wishes to inform every man that they are just as well as could be expected."

"Happy? Sure they are happy," he said. "They are full of that indefinable happiness which every man feels when he is doing his job with pride. Wait until they get into the game. I'm not going to say they have more courage than the fellows of France and England. The supreme test of courage is for a man to face fire at the cost of his life. We all know what the English and French have done along that line."

"But our boys are fresh. They are full of life. They have that exuberant Yankee spirit which means so much in crisis, which you can't describe in words, but which you admire in action."

"The whole thing is a joke to our lads. They kid themselves when they are weary of kidding the other fellow. What is gold lace to them? A joke. Suppose bacon or tobacco is short for twenty-four hours—that's just another joke."

Carry Humor to Battle Line. "The difference between the spirit of our men and the spirits of the fighting men of France and England is that the American boys, as they are called, are fresh. They are not weary. They are not tired of fighting. When fighting is the thing to be done they fight like heroes. But they are weary of the crush and burden of war, the seemingly never ending hustle and jostle of the grim game in which they are engaged. They are as men who seek rest, but moved vigor and unselfish sacrifice because that is their supreme duty. If this is true of the allies, how much more true must it be of the enemy troops."

Irvin S. Cobb.

IMPORTANT MEETINGS TOMORROW AFTERNOON

All three meetings which have been arranged by County Food Administrator Clemmons for tomorrow afternoon will be held in his office in the Jackson block. Plans for the meetings have been practically completed but it is not known yet who the representative of the state food administration will be.

The first meeting will be that of the six deputy administrators of the county. They will be given instructions relative to the enforcement of food rulings in their respective localities. Hotel and restaurant keepers will meet at two-thirty. While the meeting of the bakers will commence at three thirty.

PRIVATE H. BANKER SLIGHTLY WOUNDED

A letter dated June 7, was received from Mrs. Harry Day from her brother, Private H. Banker, formerly of Company M, who states that he is in a hospital in France, being slightly wounded. He also tells of the battle and states that the Janesville boys held all the ground that they took. He speaks well of the care and treatment he is receiving and says that he is slowly recovering. The letter was a most welcome one as Mrs. Day had not heard from her brother for some months.

Important Point. Concentration is a great distinguishing faculty.—Greenville Kleiser.

EXPRESSIVE TOOTS.

Every time the whistle blows their given number of blasts these days it designates another fifty thousand added to the War Savings Stamp fund. It means fifty thousand dollars more loaned to the government and fifty thousand dollars more saved for future use. If everyone who buys these War Savings certificates and those who purchase Liberty bonds, keep them intact until they mature, there is going to be a wave of prosperity in this country after the war that has never been equalled. Every time the bells ring and the whistle blows you can count on fifty thousand dollars added to Uncle Sam's cash. So much more ready cash to conduct the war. Rock county will do its share and Janesville will be well to the fore when the final count comes. Today is the climax and the final figures when counted tonight will represent what the city and the nation have done in this latest plan for increasing the war revenues and at the same time teaching the lesson of economy to our citizens.

SEVEN TO ONE.

One of our Rock county boys writes home to his mother of his brother's death and tells her: "There he stood, seven to one, and one of them got him from behind. That is the kind of fighting the men of Rock county who are fighting somewhere in France. Whether in their billets behind the lines of first attack or on the actual front or trench line, they are always ready, and seven to one to one does not count in the ultimate end. Another youth writes home of the death of his chum. "Poor Sam went over the top and never came back." Expressive, and tells it all in the nutshell. Yet he hastens to add that while he was shot twice he is doing fine and will soon be back in the firing line. One more episode from a boy who was gassed twice and is at the rear in a hospital. He wants one more try at the "Heckles" before he is over and says he will be kept in the hospital so long he will not have a chance. Seven to one is the American odds and the glowing tales of the valorous and fighting of the American troops can all be read with the one thought, Our Wisconsin boys are there doing their duty.

STATE POLITICS.

We will not have enough political voters in the state to elect a first-class "bottle royal" for the gubernatorial office. The last to announce his candidacy is our present governor, and he will prove a most formidable candidate in view of the rather already suggested by his opponents. Unless some good sound reason can be advanced for his later in his bid for re-election of the republican nomination in September and later on the election. However, this is but June, and there are two months of campaigning yet, so no one knows what will happen. At the bar meeting in Racine the question of having more members of the legislature have been taken up seriously, and might well be considered. The legislature enacts the laws and if they are not good, sound laws they are tested in courts and perhaps upheld, or sometimes declared invalid. If we had a sufficient number of good lawyers in the legislature the poor laws would not be enacted and the necessity for long and expensive lawsuits would be done away with so this is a point in favor of the lawyers, although the magnificent salary is not a temptation for any to seek the office.

WHAT WAS DONE.

The first year of the food administration has brought about the following concrete results:

Wheat Export: Estimated surplus for export, 20,000,000 bushels. Actual shipments to June, 120,000,000 bushels.

Beef Export: Ordinary rate one to two million pounds monthly. Largest single month this year, 57,000,000 pounds.

Pork Export: Ordinary rate 50,000,000 pounds annually. Largest month this year, 305,000,000 pounds.

Price of Flour: (Minneapolis) One year ago $16.75 wholesale, per barrel. Present price, $9.50 per barrel. Price margin (between flour and wheat and flour and meal) 13¢. One year ago difference was $5.65. Present date difference is sixty-four cents.

In general, to the farmer going to market, 27 per cent more than last summer; to the housewife buying in market, 13 per cent less than last summer. And the allies have been sustained.

Now comes word that the Russian revolutionists have assassinated their former czar, Nicholas. Well, the French revolutionists killed Louis and Marie Antoinette during their revolutionary period. Russia and Mexico are much alike, only Mexican patriots are usually bandits and Russian patriots anarchists.

Congress had better look out how they obstruct women's suffrage for war measures unless they want something more than a social revolution here at home. The women advocating universal suffrage consider it just as important as appropriating millions for the increase of the army or navy to meet present emergencies.

There is going to be a merry war in the selection of congressional candidates throughout the state. It is not going to be easy to defeat some of the present representatives, who have had long tenure of office behind them, and it can not be accomplished by mere talk.

Tonight we bid Godspeed to the last of the June contingent of selected draft men who leave from training camp. July will witness an exodus and August, September, October, November and December, will practically denude Rock county of its young men.

Those Rock county war gardeners are making a name for themselves in the country as a whole. Just watch them grow and note the wonderful results not only in health of the workers who have made them a success, but also in the saving to the family pocketbook in these strenuous days of war drives.

Over the top in the War Savings Stamp sale is the slogan to shout today.

ON THE SPUR of the MOMENT

ROY E. MOULTON

The American aviator who fell 2,000 feet sustained only a few scratches. No wonder the tired Germans come in and give themselves up. Gosh, how that man lies to his wife!

The kaiser sent the kaiserin a long telegram from the front telling of the "wonderful victory" and that "God is with us still."

I have a large, barn-looking house, eight rooms, on Bellevue place. Everything runs down and the poor neighborhood in the city. I am asking twice as much for the house as it is worth. When I bought a collection of silver dollars. When I bought a house I got soaked, and now I want to ask somebody else. Come and see me.—Kalamazoo (Mich.) Gazette.

We will anxiously wait to hear whether it pays to speak the truth. This man is the only real estate salesman of his kind in the world.

A pair of German shells directed at the St. Louis Cathedral at Verdun tore away the "L," "O" and "I" but left the "T," "S." Those fellows always said they had nothing against us.

Soft collars attached to shirts are being worn with gentlemen's evening dress.—Fashion Journal.

Our nightshirt has always had a soft collar attached.

William H. says: "German's destiny is war." Sherman said: "War is hell."

We believe the kaiser is right concerning Germany's destiny.

A man who runs a grocery store in Kansas City says he has found a fine substitute for gasoline. He has bought a mule.

Now they are thinking of naming new ships of the merchant marine after members of congress. Personally we would be pleased to break the bottle of champagne over the noble brow of the S. J. Jimhamblevis.

We are given the valuable information that buttons were invented in 1671. Buttonholes were invented, probably, several years later.

The Terrible Turk was a piker when compared to the Horrendous Hun. Now the Tury seems almost like a fat little old pacifist.

We only wish the kaiser and his eldest son, the crown prince, had to live in our little old New York apartment in June, July and August. Gosh! we hate those poor persons.

Now Bro. Hoover is going to be ice dictator. We'd like to see him kick our leaman—the one in the red flannel shirt.

Rev. J. R. C. Swing, president of Foreign college, Lahore, India, says that Rabindranath Tagore and other East India poets who came to this country are nothing but rank literary pirates.

And only a few months ago the bewickered Rabindranath was in our midst singing, "Oh, how I love this world that is lying so quietly!" He was crowned with the laurel wreath by thousands of devoted admirers, and was later mentioned in connection with enemy propaganda. Yes, the world lies quietly, while some Indian poets lie right out loud.

"It is time for the kings to hang together!"—Emperor Charles. The boy is right.

Just Folks

NOT FOR OURSELVES.

Not for ourselves in golden gain;
Not for a bigger stretch of land;
Not for a port to rule the main,
Nor for a nation to command;
We brave the fight on land and sea,
That suffering people shall go free.

Heads high, we march unto the field
Singing the songs of free-born men,
Hitting no shafts upon our shield,
Having no cause we dare not pen.
Today our banner are unfurled
As champions of a better world.

It ever holy war was made,

POLICE CALLED ON WILD GOOSE CHASE

Patrolman Ruehl Received Call to Come to London Hotel at Once—Evidently Work of Practical Jokers

Local people who were on Milwaukee street at nine-thirty o'clock last evening were treated to a thrilling sight when Patrolman Ruehl made a dash down the street in the patrol in response to a call from the London Hotel.

DOG LICENSE TAGS CAN BE SECURED NOW

City Clerk James Worthington Received Tags and Owners Should Apply at City Hall—Round up Tramp Dogs.

City Clerk James Worthington received the dog license tags this morning and people who have made application for licenses may obtain their tags by applying at the city hall. All persons who own dogs are required by law to secure a license for their pet and failure to do so gives the police the authority to take the dog. There are still a number of dogs running at large around the streets and Chief Champion stated this morning that he will take steps in the near future to round up all dogs that are not properly licensed.

EDWARD P. ATWOOD RECEIVES HIS CALL

Former Local Boy Will Report at Urbana Tomorrow For Training as Flyer in Aviation Section.

Edward P. Atwood has received his nation call and will report for training at Urbana tomorrow. He enlisted as a pilot in aviation last February and has been awaiting his call since that time.

For the past year he has been living in Minneapolis, but previous to that he attended Carrol college at Waukegan where he was a star on the basketball and football teams for three years. His high school career was equally successful and he is known throughout the state for his athletic ability.

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL CLOSSES SESSION TODAY

The Daily Vacation Bible school which has been in session for two weeks at the Congregational church Sunday school rooms, will close the term of work this afternoon. FINAL DAY OF WAR STAMP DRIVE FINDS QUOTA SHY $200,000

Pledges Up to Noon Today Total Only $150,000—Close Drive Tonight.

With pledges totalling only $150,000 made up to noon today, Janesville citizens and the War Savings Stamps campaign with more than half of its quota still to be raised. Final reports will be made by workers tonight, though some late pledges may come in tomorrow.

The number of subscribers in the city up to today is approximately 2,800. If 4,000 subscribers are secured the $200,000 quota can be reached, it was stated at War Savings Stamps headquarters today.

Today is War Savings Stamps day all over the country, and the government is expecting a $2,000,000,000 return. If Janesville does not succeed in making its quota another drive may have to be made later on and perhaps an assessment levied.

Individual responses over the city give the workers much encouragement. Many stories of patriotic sacrifice by needy families are told by the women working in the residence districts. In two different families of workers, one having seven and the other eight children, pledges were taken out for every member of the family by the father—they wanted to be "100 per cent families."

An Austrian girl, working as a housemaid, declared that all her savings would go into War Savings Stamps and Liberty bonds for she knew how conditions were in Austria and what democracy was fighting for.

A large number of firms in the city are turning 100 per cent records. Their number includes the two large department stores, Dostwick's and the Golden Eagle, and most of the grocery and clothing stores. Other 100 per cent subscribers are the Gazette Printing company, The Rock River Cotton company, The Rock County sugar company, The New Doty Manufacturing company, and the Rock River Machine company.

NO SHORTAGE OF GASOLINE EXISTS

Government Officials Call Rumors Propaganda to Injure Automobile Industry.

Rumors that a gasoline shortage exists and that the use of motor cars may be prohibited because of the alleged shortage are untrue and have been labeled by government officials as propaganda to injure the automobile industry. The real fact is that there is a surplus of gasoline.

Local dealers have not met with this objection from prospective purchasers to buying a new car and are on their guard against this sort of propaganda. In Milwaukee these false stories have been widely circulated. The Milwaukee Automobile Dealers' Association has under consideration an offer of $1,000 reward for information that will lead to the arrest and conviction of the distributors of this propaganda.

Government officials do not deny the probability of a gasoline shortage in the future when this country reaches its maximum power in the war. Conservation is being emphasized but there is not the slightest chance that gasoline will be forbidden to the ordinary car owner.

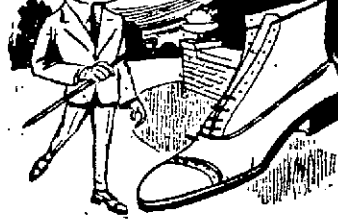

Production of gasoline during 1917 was 67,831,487 gallons more than in 1916, the production in 1917 being 2,729,712,033 gallons. Between Sept. 30 and Dec. 31 the stocks of gasoline on hand at refineries increased forty-three per cent, or 124,498,712 gallons. The demands for gasoline for military uses overseas amounts to about 350,000,000 gallons. We still have gasoline enough for 10:45.

ordinary needs provided it is carefully used.

MORRIS MILLER

Poor old Walter Johnson. He's slipping again—at a pace that is nothing like the other hurriers in the big league.

He was the first moundman in the American league to hang up ten victories. And while he was hanging up these ten with one hand he sweated the whitewash down his face with the other.

Oddly enough, Scott Peary, the hunter over whom the big leagues may have a court battle, was the only finger to lose ten games this season.

Ted Meredith apparently is still trying to start the Germans on a new sprinting match toward Berlin and right on through it.

The famous runner had been reported wounded and missing three or four times since he sailed for foreign shores. When Ted was about to sail he said: "Believe me, boys, these bullets will shatter all sporting records before Uncle Sam gets through with them."

Cooper, Pirate hurler, recently lost one of the real hard-luck games of the season. He was hitting against the Phillies. He held the Phillies to one lone swat. That was a double by Stock in the first round. But a fumble and a wild pitch put Stock around for the only run of the game.

Sam Crawford, erstwhile Tiger, who created a sensation during the early weeks of the Pacific Coast league by his heavy hitting, is showing no signs of slumping. The former big league star is playing right for the Los Angeles club and his batting is keeping his team up near the top in the race.

Arthur Irwin, who is making a success as manager of the Rochester club of the International league, has a big league prospect in Earl Smith. Smith is showing good judgment behind the plate and his batting is playing an important part in the team's success. It has been contended that the Yankees were a mud ball team and took things too easy, never making much of a fight for their games. This cannot be said of the team now, for Smith's place evidently has awakened the spirit of the players and they are battling hard for everything these days.

This hard loser is the frequent winner and the Yankees are showing no signs of slumping. Love and Pipp are players of the extremely mild type, but both have become so off-balance to the clubhouse by unbecomingly demonstrative, but the fact remains that the players are battling hard.

PEOPLE TO PROVIDE ENTERTAINMENT FOR VISITING SOLDIERS

For a long time many citizens of the community have felt that something should be done for the visiting soldiers, who come to the city on furlough on Saturdays and Sundays every week. Their thought crystallized into action and a committee representing the Woman's Federation, the Red Cross Canteen committee and other organizations met last evening at the Rest Room. The problem was considered from its many angles and it was decided that efforts be centered along two lines: one to provide a place for Sunday dinner to such soldiers as signified their desire to be entertained, and the other to provide a room centrally located where soldiers could go and rest, read or smoke, at their inclination led them. The first effort to be made at once by securing the names of those families who might wish to provide hospitality at dinner, and the assignment of men to such places. To secure such a list a letter is to be sent to the ministers and priests of every church in the city asking that the names of all families be presented to each congregation and some member thereof appointed whose special work would be to receive the names of such families in that particular church who offer hospitality.

If anyone outside church organizations desire to extend hospitality they are asked to phone their name and address to the matron of the Rest Room who will receive it for the committee until a permanent place is secured.

A committee on place of suggested room was appointed and consists of E. C. Burpee, S. C. Postwick, Mrs. J. G. Bridges, and Miss Ruth Jeffris. It was decided that the name Canteen, on Sunday Hospitality, be adopted as an expression of the work undertaken.

Thus far the committee consist of Mrs. H. H. Bliss, chairman; Rev. Henry William, secretary; and Mrs. J. G. Bridges, Mrs. S. M. Smith, Mrs. W. P. Sayles, Mrs. J. A. Craig, Miss Ruth Jeffris, F. C. Burpee, and S. C. Postwick. To this number it is hoped representatives of every church in the city will be added.

ALBANY NURSE SEES LAST FIGHT OF FLYER

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS]
Albany, N. Y., June 23.—Miss Constance R. Rowe, Albany girl with the Base Hospital Unit No. 116 in France, was an eyewitness of the air battle which resulted in the death of Major Raoul Lufbery.

"One of the American air flying squadrons, quite near here," she wrote, "and the day after we came we were asked by the chief nurse to attend an aviator's funeral. Next morning we heard guns overhead about 10 miles away. The night between Major Lufbery and the Hun plane that caused his death. I shall never forget the sight and the sound of the guns going off in the air, and by degrees the Hun plane rose higher and hid itself in a thick cloud. Soon we heard that Major Lufbery had been killed and it caused a big sensation."

She wrote of attending Lufbery's funeral and said: "I may see other military funerals, perhaps with more

CORN SHOULD BE USED TO CONSERVE WHEAT

Madison Wis., June 23.—The American people by consuming only one-sixth of the corn crop can replace or save one-half of the wheat crop, says a recent book on the use of corn (maize) as human food. A fifth of the total corn crop, or a third of what is available for milling, would make available all the wheat needed for our armies and allies abroad and for the American diet, not only for feeding all the livestock now on hand, but also for the most abundant, but because it contains a high nutritive value. Corn should not, however, form the major portion of the diet, but it is the fact that the diet contains too little of foods of other types.

H. C. Sherman, author of the book mentioned, says: "Corn meal, suitably cooked, can be substituted for corresponding wheat products even to an extent equivalent to the whole of the usual consumption of wheat in the dietaries of those who live largely on bread, without detriment to the nutritive value of the diet. It is confidently believed that suitably cooked corn products can enter into the dietaries of those who are accustomed to their use in large proportion without any effect whatever on digestion. Nor need the palatability of such a diet suffer when even greater quantities of products are introduced in varied forms."

Proper cooking is held essential to avoid digestive disturbances from the diet in which corn is a part. Pappas Candy Palace is a fine, cool, quiet place to rest and refresh yourself. Bargains in most everything are listed in the classified columns.

TWO YOUTHS PREVENT BAD RUNAWAY ACCIDENT

A serious runaway accident was narrowly averted when a team belonging to the Janesville Delivery company started down Milwaukee street from the corner of Jackson shortly after 8 o'clock last night and was stopped near the bridge by the action of two youths. As the large white delivery wagon came crashing down the street, Chester Delaney, bellhop at the Myer hotel, ran out at the corner of Franklin street and swung himself onto the back of the wagon as the horses plunged on toward the river. Alfred Vandell, Western Union messenger boy, quickly followed him, while spectators stood gaping at the flying wagon. The two lads clambered over the top of the wagon at the risk of being thrown to the ground, grasped the reins tied to the seat, and brought the runaway to a stop just before the bridge was reached. Fortunately the street was deserted at this time and serious damage was avoided.

WILL REPEAT PLAY AT MYERS THEATRE

High School Students Will Again Present Play Which Made Hit on Monday and Tuesday Evenings.

"The Captain of Plymouth," which was presented by the high school students at the Myers theatre on last Monday and Tuesday evenings, will be presented at that theatre again this evening. The play is by far the best home talent that has ever been presented in this city and on the former performances of the play it was decidedly hit.

Miriam Becker as Katonka, the Indian princess (from one of the first families) and endowed with Miles, showed the eye sweetness of the maiden with good effect. Roy Keller as John Alden has a good voice, and his song with "Friendship's Call" is well rendered. He also sang with the Puritan maidens, "Friendship's Call." Priscilla, as given by Owen Jacobs, is a droll, lovable character, and her spinning song was given with sweetness and effect. Her voice, although not strong, is sweet and true.

Robert Lane as Elder Brewster has a fine presence, and since his lines are remarkably well. His song, "The Wall of the Prophet," was rendered with splendid effect, his voice filling the house. He also substituted for Watwau and sang the solo, for the chief of the Pequots, which was well done.

The waggish clown, Erasmus, was personated by Magnus Hanson, who brought out the dry humor of the play very nicely. His voice was good, and he looked and acted the part to perfection. Harold Persons was the Indian messenger, Peckant, and brought the challenge of defiance from the warriors. Catherine Hooper, as an early American girl, had a quiet little flirtation with Erasmus on the side, and incidentally sang "There's Nothing to Do But Chat." The sextette of Puritan daisies who sang with her were Jean McNamara, Louise Ford, Constance Cunningham, Virginia Parker, Mildred Smith and Esther Muggleton. They did some tripping little dances with grace and ease.

A chorus of sailor girls added not a little to the general effect. They were clad in white middie suits, with black ties, and white sailor hats. They had a song and dance all their own which was well done.

The Indian braves who were dodging about in the background all the time, were picturesque in makeup, and did a war dance about Erasmus and Captain Miles when they were captives and tied to a tree, awaiting execution. An Indian lullaby song given by eight or ten Indian maidens was most effective and the accompanying dance was very good. Each had a cunning little pappoose on her back.

The soldiers in Captain Miles' army sang better than they looked. They were an ill-assorted, misfit outfit, but they sang "A Soldier's Chorus" with good will and energy. Leads of the colony, presented by Melvin Borzak, Austin Sprackling and William Korst, helped with the general making up, and gave their small parts well. Some Puritan villagers in the background contributed to the effect and added their voices to the choruses. "Hail Captain of Plymouth" and "Be Brave and True, We Sing to You," were some of those rendered with full chorus. The scenes were laid in the streets of Plymouth and in the interior of Miles' home, and were well worked out.

SEES SON IN MOVIES THEN HEARS OF ACCIDENT

New York, June 28.—"That's my boy," my Joe."

That intense, strained feeling of patriotism which gripped every patron of the little moving picture theatre in Yonkers on a recent night seemed to catch fire from the words of the little mother who had recognized her son in a trench scene taken over there.

With one exception, the audience yelled, cheered and whistled. The one exception cried—and then smiled through her tears. She was Joe's mother.

Not long since Mrs. Catherine Farmer of Riverview Place, has received a letter from her son and with tearful eyes she had read the following words:

"I have been over the top twice, mother, and happened to be in a trench right in front of a motion picture camera when they were taking pictures. I was right up close and the picture ought to be good. It will be shown in the states, no doubt, and you must watch for it."

Since then, night after night and afternoon after afternoon, the "anxious" but proud mother has been haunting the movie shows where war films are announced.

And then, at last, she saw him, so close that it seemed she could reach his hand, although he was thousands of miles away.

Shaken and elated by the wonderful experience, Mrs. Farmer returned home, there to receive a message from the War Department, saying that Private Joseph T. Farmer had been severely wounded in action.

She can't imagine her boy lying in a hospital. She only sees him in the movies, smiling and waving his hat. She's another brave mother.

News Notes from Movieland

BY DAISY DEAN

Mable Banyea, one of the newest stars of the World Company, might dramatize her life and get a passable and really thrilling motion picture for a scenario.

Miss Banyea, of French and Danish descent and is well-known in theatrical circles here and abroad. After playing in David Belasco's "Years of Discretion," she entered vaudeville. She then formed a company of her own and toured the countries of Europe. With her company of twelve she also toured Egypt, China and Japan and had unusual success in all of these countries.

She returned to Paris and played but a short engagement when war was declared.

And now comes the thrills. Miss Banyea, the pretty young actress, entered a hospital to train as a nurse. After finishing her training she was sent to one of the base hospitals. One day a wounded soldier was brought in and taken to Miss Banyea's ward. She recognized in him a suitor from America, one from whom she had received no word since the outbreak of the war. After nursing him for ten months, they both returned to New York and their engagement was announced.

The two have been in this country for six weeks, during which time Miss Banyea has played in two pictures. Her next appearance will be with Carlyle Blackwell and Evelyn Greeley in "Hitting the Trail."

CHARLIE DOESN'T LIKE GOLD. Charlie Ray has had to interrupt the production of his newest feature.

EVANSVILLE THEATRE OWNERS EXONERATED FOR SUNDAY OPENING

Jury Brings in A Verdict of Not Guilty After Being Out Five Minutes in Case of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Magee.

It took the jury just five minutes late yesterday afternoon to bring in a verdict of not guilty in the case of the Magee opera house in Evansville, owned by Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Magee of Evansville for operating their theatre on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Magee, owners of the Magee opera house in Evansville, have been running their theatre on Sundays and donating the money derived from the shows to the Evansville boys who are in the service of the United States.

They were arrested and tried before Justice Pullen in Evansville and were convicted but appealed the case. They contended that they were legally operating their play house, as they were giving their money to charity.

With the court room crowded to its capacity the trial opened yesterday morning and it was nearly five o'clock before the case was given to the jury. W. H. Dougherty represented the defendants and Stanley Dunwiddie handled the case for the state. Several witnesses were called upon and the arguments presented by both attorneys were very interesting.

The jury which returned the verdict of not guilty was composed of the following men: John Clifton, Herman Chaffin, George Olin, John Lloyd, L. A. Babcock and Walter Cary, all of the city.

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young girl of eighteen and I have been going with a boy two years my senior. I love this boy very much and he loves me, but he gets very mad at me if I talk to anyone else except him, as he is a very jealous boy. He got angry at me sometime ago because I didn't go home with him. I didn't tell him that I was going home alone or with some one for I don't think he has to know everything I do.

Now he won't speak to me when we meet each other. I love the boy very much and want him to come back to me, but will not speak first. What shall I do?

YOURS TRULY,
You cannot expect him to come back if you do not speak to him. It is your place to speak first. Of course he should look pleasant enough so that you would feel like talking to him. It was not necessary to give him a reason why you could not let him take you home. But naturally he drew the conclusion that some one else did. An extremely jealous one is never a very satisfactory friend.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been married seventeen years. My husband and I have been married three years. He drank a great deal and was not good to me. I left him but we have corresponded of late. He wants me to come and live with him again but I don't want to. He goes all the time to his work. I am and sue for a divorce, as I have been thinking of doing for some time. Please tell me what you would best.

Do not go back to your husband unless you are very sure that he has stopped drinking. Write a letter to the company he works for and see what they have to say about his conduct. To go back to him now might make it impossible for you to get a divorce for some time in case you wish it. After a separation of three years you would not have trouble in getting one. Since you love your husband a divorce would be unwise. Believe in him and consent to return when he can prove that he has not touched liquor for a year.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been going with a girl eighteen years old for about ten months and we have been engaged for about three months. The girl has asked me several times if she could keep on writing letters to boy friends. I have always told her that I did not think it was right that she should. I do not write to other girls or boys. I have been told that she should keep on writing to boy friends. NOBBY.

She she not write to other boys since you object. If they are soldiers they probably feel that they mean too much to them for her to stop writing even if you do object. Do not insist upon her giving up correspondence with soldiers.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been keeping company with a young lady for the past three months, and I think a good deal of her. She treats me as if I were a friend, but at the same time her father seems to be very indifferent as to my calling at his home to see my friends. I have told her that I said anything to me, but he is always saying something to her about me calling to see her, and she tells me about it.

I also have another young lady friend that I think just about as much of as the one that I am keeping company with now, but she is not located in this city. Do you think it would be best for me to discontinue calling to see this lady, and call on the other one, or continue, as I am, against her father's will? JIMMIE.

"Paint heart never wear," said the girl. "Don't give her up just because her father objects to you. There is no reason why you should not keep both girls as friends until you decide to marry one of them."

EVERYDAY ETIQUETTE

A husband should not open his wife's letters, nor should she open his. Because persons are married they have not given up the privilege of correspondence without curious scrutiny.

LILLIAN: All gifts sent by friends are acknowledged by the bride before the wedding day, if there be time, so that the very last letters a girl writes and signs with her maiden name, are these pretty notes of thanks.

MADAM: R: As the shape and style of wedding cards varies with the seasons, the order for them should be sent to a reliable stationer. They should always be white, unglazed, and of a medium thickness. The note paper on which wedding invitations are engraved must be white and of the best quality. When sent by mail, cards and invitations are enclosed in an inner and outer envelope.

SALADS
Russian Salad—One-half cup each cooked peas and string beans, one third cup each cooked carrots and potato cubes; six round tomatoes of uniform size; one hard-boiled egg. Dressing: mayonnaise or bolide dressing, lettuce or cress.
Scald, skin and chill tomatoes. Scrop out center, which may be used for tomato sauce or soup. Mix the cooked vegetables with a very little French dressing and let stand for half an hour in a cold place. Fill tomato cups. Put a spoonful of dressing on each, sprinkle on the finely chopped egg and stand on bed of lettuce or cress.

Summer Salad—One cup fresh or canned pineapple cut in cubes, one cup orange pulp cut in neat pieces and seeded; one and one-quarter cups strawberries, raspberries, or cherries; two sliced bananas, sweet French dressing, lettuce.
Make a bed of the lettuce leaves. Gently mix the fruit, use a fork, and arrange on lettuce. Sprinkle with the dressing and serve at once, ice cold. Do not slice or peel until the last. Canned fruit, well drained, may be used.

Oriental Salad—One tablespoon gelatine, two cups boiling water, three-quarters cup sugar, one-half cup lemon juice, one-half cup grated coconut, two cups apples chopped, one cup celery, one-half cup chopped nuts, three pimentos, one tablespoon grated onion, one-third teaspoon salt. Soften gelatine in hot water, dissolve in boiling water, but do not cook after gelatine is put in. Add all other ingredients. Mix and chill. Dressing: plain or on lettuce leaves.

Japanese Salad—Three sweet green peppers, one small head of lettuce, one tablespoon rice, six sardines, French dressing.
After washing rice thoroughly, boil rapidly for twenty minutes. Drain dry, add onion and stir in half the French dressing. Let cool, but do not set on ice.

Scald peppers, pull off skin and remove seeds after cutting in half crosswise. In each pepper put a bed of shredded lettuce. On this put the prepared rice, and in each mound of rice put a sardine drained free of oil, skin, bones and cut in strips. Turn over all remainder of dressing, and serve.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING
When Baking Cake—Place a little salt in sprinkled in bottom of oven it will prevent burning.
A Paste of Flour or starch will remove blood stains.
For the St. Shaker—By adding a small bit of cornstarch to the salt put into salt shaker, the salt never cakes in shaker.
Grease Spots—When grease has been spilled on the floor sop kerosene (coal oil) on it and let stand a day or two before mopping. The oil cuts the grease, then evaporates. If not all gone, repeat.

To Clean Silverware—Put silverware in a dishpan and cover with four milk. Let it stand for about two hours. Then take it out and plunge into hot water. Dry with a soft tea towel and you will find your silver as bright as ever. You will also find that your silver does not tarnish quite so soon as before. The cost is not more than that of keeping stocked up on silver polish.

Tales of the Friendly Forest

Once upon a time, So I've heard tell, There lived a little rabbit In a shady dell. And on one side a clover patch, Where red-topped clovers grew, And to the side was lollipops Of red and white and blue.

This is the song Mrs. Bunny sang one morning as she set to work to wash her little rabbit's white duds for it was Monday, and that was washday in Rabbitville, so they tell me. And just as she was hanging them out on the line who should fly up but Old Mother Magpie, and my! wasn't she excited. Why, she was so disturbed that her bonnet had fallen off her head and was hanging by the strings.

"Have you heard the news?" she asked, and she rolled off one of her black silk mitts and turned her wedding ring around three times and a half.

"Hurray!" shouted little Billy Bunny, who was polishing the brass door knob on the back door. "Hurray!" "You ought to be ashamed of yourself," said Old Mother Magpie. "His poor mother is nearly crazy with grief."

ZOE BECKLEY

The Test, Chapter V.
Never before in her life had thanks for the profession so risen in Sally Orme's soul.

"Oh Doctor Will, I'm coming with you!" she sent her message over the telephone in eager tones. "You never did a better life-saving job than when you stirred up my old ambitions! But tell me, won't I have to pass exams and things? When can I begin?"

A curious smile played over the physician's face—a youthful face, as she called it, who could see the thirties, sharp outlines. The weariness faded from his eyes as Sally's crisp voice came over the wire. He drew a long breath, which might have been a sigh and might have been a laugh; it was hard to say. At all events, he answered brightly:

"No, you passed your exams and things long ago. The test that accepts you on your record, enrolls your name, passes it on to Washington, and you are notified from there that you are placed in our unit. 'There you'll have to go with the rest of us to New York and wait for equipment and transportation.' Sally—it's good to be up and doing, isn't it?"

"Oh Doctor Will!" Sally's very soul was in her voice.

Followed days of furious work. It was not possible that occasional thoughts of Steve should not creep in even during those strenuous hours of packing, of getting high school affairs, of getting out of the office, of being enrolled and accepted for service and receiving clearance from the War department. But the bath of work softened the pain of remembrance, and it was not until the day before Sally left Philadelphia that the real test came.

The news spread like wildfire that Sally Orme had enlisted as a Red Cross nurse, and was going to the French battlefield. Old friends kept running in, all clustered and not quite knowing whether to congratulate or console. They had been putting Sally. For she was "Lucy Orme's girl," born and brought up among them. They had loved Lucy Orme, her mother, and Joseph Orme, her doctor father, who had been everybody's friend and counselor. They loved Sally for her own sake too. And they had wanted her to marry Stephen Torrance. It outraged their doctor's decency and honor that Steve had "broken it off."

"Think of it—HIM doing it!" the good neighbors whispered to one another. For the thing was to marry a girl he could not love while there was yet time for her to become a nurse.

"I'm sorry for her," said Mrs. Bunny, and she thought how thankful she ought to be that her little rabbit didn't have to shoulder a musket. "Well, I'm glad he's going," said Billy Bunny. "He can shoot at some thing else now besides little rabbits."

Old Mother Magpie ruffled her feathers. "Well, if I had a boy like you I'd teach him to shoot at some other person's grief, and then she flew away."

"I'm sorry for his mother," said Mrs. Bunny, "but the Miller boy will never be missed," and the cloth fell out of her mouth and stood up in the grass like a little wooden soldier. "Do you want anything at the store?" asked the line rabbit, after he had finished cleaning the door knob. "If you do, tell me, for I'm going by there."

"You can order a pound of carrot tea and some lollipops," answered the mother, and then Billy Bunny picked up his striped candy cane and set off for the village, and by and by he came to the postoffice, and the nice lady postmistress called to him that there was a letter there addressed to Billy Bunny, Old Briar Patch, but what was written in it I'm not going to tell you now, for I must stop and play some of pinocle with dear, kind Uncle Lucky, who just telephoned to me to come over to his house and have a game with him this evening, and I must keep him waiting another minute."

Love's version of Death.
Mary and Tommy were playing "funeral" in the yard. Mary was overheard explaining. "Tommy, when you're dead, your body's no good, but your think goes on."

10:00 a. m.—Oh, dear! Another warm day. Wonder if I'll be abused as I was yesterday. I am, I'm going to get up and get dressed and have a good breakfast. I was so jittery about it and so tired that it took me twice as long to do it as usual. I am going to get up and get dressed and have a good breakfast. I was so jittery about it and so tired that it took me twice as long to do it as usual.

10:30 a. m.—Two glasses of ice-water have just arrived. It will take all the energy I can get up in the next hour just to warm me up to normal again.

10:50 a. m.—Half-chewed breakfast did not satisfy her and she has bought some peanuts and started again.

12:00 m.—Peanuts have been drifting along ever since. Think she has finished them, though.

12:30 p. m.—Decided she wasn't very hungry, and instead of a good solid dinner sent me down a cold egg-nog heavy with chocolate. She has managed to get it down, but it didn't taste as good as I thought it would. It made it terribly difficult to deal with.

1:10 p. m.—More ice water.

1:40 p. m.—Was in pain about the peanuts. She has found another handful in the bottom of her vanity bag, and now I am getting them again.

2:05 p. m.—More ice water.

2:10 p. m.—She has been lifting some heavy books, and as usual used her muscles instead of her arm muscles. You see, she's never lifted, flabby proper physical education, soft, flabby muscles. Tired me almost as much as a six-course dinner.

3:20 p. m.—Furtive fellow has brought in a box of caramels, and she has started right in on them.

4:30 p. m.—Have received something like half a pound of caramels. Just heard her say: "Oh, dear, I don't feel a bit well. The milk in that egg-nog must have been sour."

5:20 p. m.—V's played a set of tennis before dinner, and here I am all

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Tobacco Heart Bad Thing.
Is such a thing as a "tobacco heart," or is that just an old wives' tale? Would the symptoms be similar to those of a heart disease? Is there harm in the moderate use of tobacco in case of heart trouble? Yes, tobacco heart is a pretty serious condition. The early symptoms are palpitation, nervousness, or neuralgic pain in the breast or the region of the stomach. If tobacco is continued, nevertheless, the later symptoms resemble those of angina pectoris. Excessive use of tobacco may cause muscle failure.

Little Mother, Stay as You Are.
I am five feet and three inches tall and weigh 108 pounds. Is there any way I can grow taller? I have three children and when I was a child I was in their company. People look at me and ask if it is true they are my boys, because I am so small. Those boys wouldn't love you one little bit more if you were six feet tall. People probably take you for their sister, and I envy your looks and your boys. If you could have a boy I'd just as soon be four feet tall.

PETEY DINK— NO LIFE ON THE OCEAN WAVE FOR PETEY, NOW

The Light in the Clearing

A TALE OF THE NORTH COUNTRY IN THE TIME OF SILAS WRIGHT.

By IRVING BACHELDER, Author of "Eben Holden, Etc."

Copyright, 1917, The Bobbs-Merrill Co.

She took my hand as I went to her side and tenderly caressed it. A gentle smile came to her face that I had seen on it. Then the stern look returned for a moment as she held one finger aloft in a gesture which only I and my Aunt Deel understood. She knew it signified a peril and a mystery. That I should have to meet it, somewhere up the hidden pathway, I had no doubt whatever.

"The hunter's ready!" exclaimed the cheerful voice of Aunt Deel. "Then wait a minute of chairs and feet as we sit down at the table. (Old Kate sat by the side of my Aunt Deel and we were all surprised at her good manners.)

Uncle Deel, a member of the white church, played for a moment as we sat with bowed heads. I have never forgotten his simple eloquence as he prayed for the poor and for him who was sitting in the shadow of death. It was that he returned to Amos' (translating and interpreted) and our forgiveness.

We tested and laughed and drank elder and renewed the year's history and ate as only they can eat, with huge bones and muscles and the steady eye. I never taste the flavor of sage and current jelly, or hear a hearty laugh without thinking of those holiday dinners in the old home on Butterfield.

Some of the men and two of the women filled their pipes and smoked while the dishes were being picked up and washed. By and by the men and the big boys went with us down to the brook where we chopped holes in the ice to let the sheep and the cattle change to the drink. Then they looked at the horses.

"Probably you must be getting 'fleh," said Hiram Bentley. "No, I ain't. I've had to give up but a little while ago. I came to see father day from an old uncle in Vermont. It ain't a notion to brag of, but I'll give you a start and we thought that while we had the money, we'd get a little 'fleh' that we've been wanting to do for years and years—give a Christmas an' we've done it. The money'll go some way an' we may never have another chance. But it's a good boy an' we made up our minds he'd enjoy it better now than he ever would again."

That Christmas brought me nothing better than those words, the memory of which is one of the tallest towers in the long avenue of my past down which I have been looking these many days. Above all you must do for a boy worth while, is to give him something good to remember.

The day had turned dark. The temperature had risen and the air was thick and sticky. The men began to hitch up their horses.

"Kind o' thawin' a little," said Uncle Hiram as he got into his sleigh and drove up to the door. "Mon o' mornin' an' all into this sleigh," he shouted in good humor to the women and children who stood on the porch. "I'll be snowin' like sixty 'fore we get home."

So, one by one, the sleighs left us with cheery good-bys and a grinding of runners and a jingling of bells.

REVIEW: JESUS OUR REDEEMER AND LORD.

Far and above any controversial spirit in the assertion of it, Jesus appeals to the universal human mind and heart as the unapproached character of time. Deeds must be denied of him, all excellencies must be affirmed and each in a superlative degree. There is an equilibrium, a balance of opposite qualities; that is recognized in the admiration of the world, and that the legend of his activity is matched by his gentleness, his activity by his repose, and so on through the whole gamut. This accounts for the unintermitted concentration of the world's attention upon Jesus for two millenniums. It was this that led Renan to affirm that Jesus of Nazareth would never be surpassed, that he would continue to be the wonder and admiration of the world, and that the legend of his grief would draw tears from human eyes to the end of time.

Didn't Care What Happened

"I became a physical wreck from stomach trouble and was a fit subject only for the operating table or graveyard. Being discouraged, I gave way to drink, which made things worse. I got so I didn't care what happened and wanted to die. But Wonderful Remedy has cured me of everything. Am now in fine condition and feel 25 years younger." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allows the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments including appendicitis. One dose will convince. Money refunded. J. P. Baker and Druggists everywhere.

HOW THIS LITTLE BOY

Recovered Strength After Sickness

Garrett, Texas.—"The measles left my little boy aged nine years in a very weak, run down condition—he coughed a good deal, and as medicines did not seem to help him, we finally took him out of school, and thought he would never be strong again. One day I read about the cod liver and iron tonic known as Vinol, and such a change as it has made in my little boy—it stopped his cough, he is now back in school, strong and well."—Mrs. E. A. Wright.

There is nothing like Vinol to restore strength, appetite and vim to pale, sickly children. We strongly recommend Vinol for this purpose. Smith Drug Co., Janesville. W. J. Smith, Brodhead, and Druggists everywhere.

It is a very good and proper thing, my boys, that you should be inspired by the example of the great men whose home is here among us and whose beloved face is as familiar as my own, to try your talents in the service of the state. There are certain things that I would have you remember.

"First—Know your subject—inside and outside and round about and from beginning to end.

"Second—Know the opinions of wise men and your own regarding it.

"Third—Be modest in the use of your own opinions and above all be honest.

ITALY VICTIM OF NATIONAL PASTIME

(By International News)
 New York, June 25.—One of the curious effects of the war is the international interest which has been aroused in American sports. Italy apparently is the most recent victim of the baseball mania, according to the Italian press. The Italian Football Federation, which is the official body of the Italian football, has decided to raise a fund for the purchase of baseballs, bats and footballs and the distribution of prizes among the soldiers to stimulate competition.
 General Pennello, Commander of the Second Italian Army, in a letter to the Gazzetta dello Sport, says that football and baseball games are of inestimable value in the training for war. He praises the initiative of the Gazzetta dello Sport and says that Italy believes that the stimulation of baseball and football competition among the various units of the Italian Army will have the most gratifying and important results in maintaining the morale of the troops.
 General Pennello is especially pleased with baseball as an aid to training and the maintenance of the morale of the troops.
 "Look upon this form of sport," he says, "as an integral part of military training. Soccer and diversion are especially necessary in trench warfare. During the inevitable lulls in this kind of warfare the morale of the men is likely to suffer, and they need the kind of recreation that chase away gloom and stimulate the spirit. Sports and games take out of a man the moral and physical fatigue contracted in the trenches. I consider it a matter of vital importance to the nation that interest in sport be stimulated, not only in the army, but also among the civilian population."

RUTH CANDIDATE FOR HOME RUN KINGSHIP

(By International News)
 New York, June 27.—Babe Ruth is a likely candidate for the title of home run king in the big show this year.
 The husky leaver and hitter of the Boston Red Sox established a major league record in home run making when he slugged out four straight circuit swats in consecutive games. Ruth's hitting this season has been remarkable. He has always been a dangerous hitting pitcher, but his work with the willow has never occasioned the comment it has aroused this year.
 A good many critics are classing Ruth as the hardest hitter in baseball. A few have gone so far as to class him as the hardest hitter the game has ever known.
 There is no doubt about the power behind Ruth's heavy swings. He hits from a free and natural position and he takes a terrible swing at the ball. When he connects it is a day's work for him to get a little bit to a hit there isn't a wall far enough away to block the path of the ball.
 Early this season Ruth tied Ray Caldwell's record by making three

Dinner Stories

Harriet had been to Sunday-school many times, but recently she made her first visit to church during regular services. The opening prayer, it happened, was offered by a man who put his whole soul into his plea. The prayer was so earnest, in fact, that again and again from the congregation came fervent expressions of "Amen."

Orfordville News

Orfordville, Wis., June 27.—On Thursday morning, Dr. Forbush and family and the doctor's mother started on a motor trip for Alliance, Ohio, where on July 4th they will attend a Forbush reunion, where about one hundred and fifty members of the family will be present. Before returning home they expect to visit several places of interest including several of the eastern cities. They will be gone two or three weeks.
 Professor Lowth of the Rock County Training school was in Orfordville on Wednesday evening and was the principal speaker at the ice cream social given by the young people of the Lutheran church. He was accompanied by L. L. Lewis of the Lewis Knitting works. Professor Lowth's address was greatly enjoyed.
 Boyd Gansell does not improve as rapidly as his friends would desire. He remains quite poorly.
 Dr. Harry Horne of Monticello, was in the village the early part of the week. He was the guest of his sister, Mrs. W. T. Green. He expects to be called into service in the next draft.
 Clarence Nelson, who has been in the employ of C. O. Ness for some time has resigned his position and accepted one with H. P. Silverthorn at the garage. This leaves one more opportunity for a woman to take the place thus vacated.
 Several members of the Lutheran church went to Brodhead on Thursday to attend a business meeting of the church there.
 Mrs. Claud Genawalt of Beloit visited with friends here on Thursday.
 The ladies of the W. R. C. will hold a cake sale Saturday afternoon commencing at 3 o'clock at Teletest's furniture store.

The Peak of Tire Accomplishment

NOTHING that we Goodyear Service Station Dealers have ever said about Goodyear Cord Tires is half so impressive as what these tires have actually accomplished.

On the speedways and tracks of America the past season, Goodyear Cord Tires have won every officially recognized race.

More than that, the majority of these races were driven at a pace which shattered record after record, and speeds in excess of a hundred miles an hour were common.

Most important of all, in spite of such terrific speeds, every victory by Goodyear Cord Tires was won by a non-stop run.

This is the very peak of tire accomplishment—under similar conditions such performance has never been duplicated.

It is the most eloquent testimony possible, of the superior speed, strength and stamina of Goodyear Cord Tires.

It establishes beyond question our contention that these are the most able, the most resolute, the most enduring and economical tires it is possible to buy.

The qualities that have made Goodyear Cord Tires supreme on the speedway are the qualities that insure your extreme satisfaction from them on your car.

This sign identifies the Goodyear Service Station Dealer.

Goodyear Tires, Tubes and Accessories are always kept in stock.
